CYBER SECURITY CONSULTING

Businesses have rewritten their way of working thanks to the restriction imposed by the Covid Pandemic. This new age organisations have adopted solution at the speed of light to handle the new connectivity requirements fueled by workers working from "Anywhere". No more the Users & Applications are confined to the boundaries of the office. Applications have seen widespread deployment on Public IAAS platforms alongside being offloaded onto SAAS platforms. Users on the other hand are working from their cozy homes thereby expanding the existing organizational perimeter.

The solutions adopted by these organisations are mostly deployed to fill in these new requirements without much effort put in to evaluate their 360* integration into the existing infrastructure leading to limited customization and default deployments.

On the side note, Applications offloaded to public cloud IAAS platforms i.e. AWS, Azure, Google etc are running with open vulnerabilities, misconfigurations and open access to the outside world.

This puts immense pressure onto the organization to handle such environments with half-baked solution deployed using the knee-jerk reaction approach.
